THIS volume is presented to the Members of the SCOTTISH RECORD SOCIETY of the year 1901-1902 by the Trustees of the late Sir WILLIAM FRASER, K.C.B., LL.D., in exercise of the authority which he conferred upon them to publish or print, for private circulation or otherwise, such Documents as they might think proper, with the special object of illustrating the History and Antiquities of Scotland.

January 1902.

PREFATORY NOTE.

THE place and grounds of the Greyfriars, beside Edinburgh on the south-west, having been left desolate and ruinous at the Reformation in 1560, the town, feeling the necessity of a new burial-ground, in April 1561 made choice of the Grey freir yaird for that purpose. This was secured to them in the following year by grant from Mary Queen of Scots, and from that time, or as soon thereafter as the preparation of the enclosure permitted, it has been used as a place of interment for the lieges. There is, however, no register of these interments now extant prior to 1658, although doubtless such did at one time exist; and for what information of that period it has been possible to glean recourse must be had to the work compiled by James Brown, keeper of the burying-ground, who in 1867 published "The Epitaphs and Monumental Inscriptions in Greyfriars Churchyard Edinburgh," and has there printed whatever entries he could find relating to the matter in the Town-Council Records.

The Registers of this burying-ground are in the possession of the Town-Council of Edinburgh, and by their kind permission the Trustees of the late Sir William Fraser have been enabled to reproduce them from the beginning in 1658 up to and including the year 1700. This portion is contained in nine volumes and part of a tenth. The Volumes are of various sizes and shapes, and were all rebound by the Corporation in 1861. The Register, however, is not continuous. Vol. I. is marked as beginning on 12th February 1658, but there are now some leaves wanting, and it only begins on 1st April 1658 and ends 26th October 1661; Vol. II. begins 1st January 1661 and ends 31st October 1671, and at the beginning there is this entry, "This book perteins to James Imrie, grawmaker, in anno 1661 yeares;" Vol. III. begins 1st February 1663 and ends 30th September 1670; Vol. IV. begins 1st January 1671 and ends 31st March 1677; Vol. V. begins 12th March 1684 and ends 30th September 1686; Vol. VI. begins 1st October 1686 and ends 31st December 1689; Vol. VII. begins 1st January 1690 and ends 31st December 1690; Vol. VIII. begins 1st January 1691 and ends 31st December 1696; Vol. IX. begins 1st January 1697 and ends 28th February 1699, and on the flyleaf occur the words, "This buike perteins to George Leslie of that Ilk, 1623;"

Vol. X. begins 1st March 1699 and ends 28th February 1709. The Register is duplicated for these periods:—1st January 1661 to 26th October 1661, 1st February 1663 to 30th September 1670, 1st January 1671 to 31st October 1671, 7th December 1688 to 6th January 1689, 3rd February 1689 to 3rd March 1689, and 25th December 1689 to 31st March 1690; it is wanting from 1st April 1677 to 30th September 1683, 3rd December 1683 to 11th March 1684, 1st to 20th April 1690, 23rd July to 1st September 1690, and 21st December 1699 to 14th January 1700.

The Register is for the most part written in a wretched hand and is most illiterate, but as it was kept by the gravediggers themselves nothing else could well be expected. Some of the uncouth spellings have been retained, and a glossary of these will be found in the Appendix; but for the most part they have been rendered into what was evidently intended, as it would have been not only useless but hideous to perpetuate all the bewildering variations in the spelling of the Christian names, professions and trades, &c. From the same cause it has been matter of considerable difficulty to ascertain the real surname intended, so as to classify these aright in an alphabetical arrangement.

As it would have almost doubled the size of the book to have given the Register as it stands, and then compiled an index to it, an alphabetical arrangement has been judged most suitable, the entries containing all the information given in the Register. Wives and widows are entered both under their own names and those of their husbands, but the fullest information is generally given under the former. Sometimes where duplicate entries, exist additional information is given in the duplicate, and this has been placed within parentheses. A [d] after an entry indicates that it has been scored through; and dates placed within brackets note that only an approximation can be given.

From a calculation of the twelve years before 1700 it appears that between 1100 and 1200 interments took place in the burying-ground on an average yearly. Twice the interments reach not quite 1000, but in 1690 they rise to as high a figure as 1445. The highest rate of mortality appears in the months of December 1696 and January and February 1697, when the interments number 180, 208, and 213 respectively, or together 601 for the three months.
